Dear Professor Lederberg:

As someone who, rather late in career, has elected to combine the practise of law with his science, I am interested, for my own philosophical development, in hearing various views on academic-industrial relationships, particularly when they are expressed by individuals who are clearly involved with the complex issues generated by such relationships.

To this end, if it is not too much of an imposition, I wonder if you can provide me with a copy of the talk you gave on 21 April 1982 at the colloquium sponsored by the Association of the Bar of the City of New York. It will be very helpful, and very much appreciated.

Thank you.

Yours sincerely,
